Aurora Pharmaceutical Announces Second Year of DVM Student Scholarship Program

January 14, 2022, Northfield, MN – Dr. Mike Strobel, President and CEO of Aurora Pharmaceutical, – Announced today that after the success of their inaugural DVM student scholarship program in 2021, Aurora has decided to continue the program for 2022 and increase the total amount of scholarships to $75,000. Available to current 3rd year students pursuing their degree in veterinary medicine, the program aims to support the next generation of DVM professionals.

“When we developed this program last year, one of our goals was to help alleviate the costs associated with pursuing a degree,” said Matt Klotz, DVM, Equine Technical Service Veterinarian at Aurora Pharmaceutical. “The burden of obtaining a degree in veterinary medicine can be daunting, and we are proud to play a part in helping students overcome that when pursuing their degree.”

The program will officially launch on January 17th with an application deadline of Friday, March 18, 2022. Offering 16 individual scholarships of $2,500 – in addition to five individual scholarships of $5,000 and one individual scholarship of $10,000 – the scholarship dollars aim to help ease some of the financial burden facing DVM students.

“After receiving more than 80 applications in the first year it reinforced the need that is out there,” said Grant Weaver, DVM, Swine Technical Service Veterinarian at Aurora Pharmaceutical. “I am thrilled that Aurora has decided to continue this scholarship to support future leaders within the veterinary industry.”

Qualified applicants must be a current 3rd year student pursuing their degree in veterinary medicine at an accredited school within the United States. Recipients will be selected based on a combination of academic achievement, related work experience, community and university involvement, goals, essay and letters of reference. All applications will be scored by a committee of Aurora team members. Scholarship
