Aurora Pharmaceutical Launches Texas Tech Inaugural Class Scholarship Program

November 1, 2021, Northfield, MN – Aurora Pharmaceutical, Inc. – has officially launched their Texas Tech Inaugural Class Scholarship Program. The scholarship program was originally announced during the Texas Tech official opening ceremonies in August. Available to all members of the inaugural veterinary class at Texas Tech, Aurora will be providing $15,000 in scholarships.

“The costs associated with pursuing a degree in veterinary medicine can be daunting,” said Matt Klotz, DVM, Equine Technical Service Veterinarian at Aurora Pharmaceutical. “I am thrilled that Aurora has made the decision to support this group of students who are embarking in this program.”

The program officially launched on November 1, 2021 with an application deadline of Friday, January 14, 2022. Offering four individual scholarships of $2,500 – in addition to one individual scholarship of $5,000.

“When you start a new school, everything starts new, including scholarship resources,” said Britt Conklin, DVM, Associate Dean for Clinical Programs at Texas Tech University. “We are thrilled that Aurora was an early partner who understands our mission at Texas Tech and is offering a program like this that will be transformational to the success of the school and the student recipients.”

Qualified applicants must be a first year veterinary student at Texas Tech University. Recipients will be selected based on a combination of academic achievement, related work experience, community and university involvement, goals, essay and letters of reference; all applications will be judged by a committee of Aurora team members.

“Partnering with programs like the one at Texas Tech is important to Aurora,” said Mike Strobel, DVM, CEO and Co-Founder of Aurora Pharmaceutical. “The future of our industry is dependent on making sure that the next generation of DVM professionals is receiving the best education possible, and that includes providing financial resources to champion their success.”
